

3rd Conference of the German Network of Forced Migration Researchers, 17.-19.09.2020,
University of Cologne

Submission Template for Panels

(T æ Ę Ā !^•^} cæġ) • Ę a&@ Ā @Ā Ę { { æ Ā Ā æ Ę Ę Ę [!â•)

HjñYfdUbyŁ:

7\ Ujf:

1 DfYgYbHjcb

HjñY:

Ö^!{ æ

English

First name, Surname
(academic) Title
Discipline
Institution
Contact
E-mail

2

Titl :

: German English

First name, Surname
(academic) Title
Discipline
Institution
Contact
E-mail

Abstract (max. 250 words):

3

Titl :

German

English

First name, Surname
(academic) Title
Discipline
Institution
Contact
E-mail

Abstract (max. 250 words):

Issues addressed in the presentation:

Multiple selections are possible. Please use numbers to indicate priorities: 1 means that the individual focus is mainly located in subject field XY. If the provided assignments do not fit, please use the open answer section at the end of the list.

Forced Migration and Refugee Studies: Approaches, Methods and Research Ethics

Pull and Push Factors of Migration

Gender and Intersectionality (race/ethnicity, religion, gender, class etc.)

Humanitarianism (resilience, innovation, vulnerability etc.)

and/or Agency of Refugees

Civil Society, Protest, Resistance and/or Representations of Forced Migration and Refugees in the Media and the Public

Stakeholders in Forced Migration and/or Legitimacy and Legality: Policies and Practices in the Context of Asylum and Refugee Protection

Refugee and Border Regimes: Stakeholders, Norms, Power and Impact and/or Global, Regional, National and Local Refugee Policies

Social and Cultural Participation and/or „Integration“ into Education, Work, Health, Housing and other Areas

Arts and Ethics: Artistic and Multimedia Work on and with Refugees

Please also provide the following information for your submission:

Research region (Germany, EU, global, countries of origin etc.):

Research topics:

Research perspective (methodology):

Please direct your submission to submissions@fluchtforschung.net. The call will be open until 31st January 2020.